SPRING CONDITIONS
IN DISTRICT, IDEAL
THIS FARMER SAYS

Gilt Edge Farmer Says there is Plenty of Moisture in the Ground.

ADVOCATE OF MIXED FARMING.

Says he will Continue to Grow Grain with Different Intentions.

Edward Monahan, the pioneer of Gilt Edge district, was a visitor at the STAR office on Monday and stated that spring conditions are ideal insofar as getting the seed into the ground is concerned. On high land there is some scarcity of moisture, but not to any appreciable extent, Mr. Monahan says that this is only true of land that was broken last fall and which has been exposed.

Mr. Monahan is a keen observer of agricultural conditions and will not go in for as much grain this year as last. He believes with many others that mixed farming is the only safe line to follow. "The man who depends on grain in the Wainwright district for his total resource will get left," said Mr. Monahan. He will seed as much grain as last year, but will not do so with the same intentions as heretofore. He has a number of horses and hogs to which he will feed his grain, and a very small part of the year's harvest will be sold. He expects to be on his land seeding the latter part of this week.

Mr. Monahan does not believe that so much land in the district should be held by large companies and corporations, for vacant land is a poor advertisement to a good district. Farmers who want to buy more land cannot do so without paying an exorbitant price.

Conditions in the Gilt Edge district last fall at harvest were good, according to Mr. Monahan, who is Statistics Correspondent for the Department of Agriculture. He based his reports on conditions he encountered on his own farm, and the report showed a good yield per acre. Prices, however, were not very satisfactory.

A few of the fine points of how to conduct a business meeting will be given by local ladies in the Elite theatre on Monday evening. Come and see the ladies conduct theirs.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McGillivray and little daughter, of Biggar, are visitors with Mrs. McGillivray's brothers, Messrs. Fred and William Hacker, at the Park Hotel.

Mrs. A. J. Vallejo, of Edmonton, who has many friends here, passed through to Biggar yesterday where she will visit her friend, Mrs. Ellis. Before returning to Edmonton she will visit friends here for a few days.

H. B. Walker, who went east to Thornbury, Ont. following the death of his father there, passed through here on Monday en route to Edmonton where he will be employed for the summer.

James White, who has been absent for about three months in England where he visited his former home, has returned here and is being given the glad hand by his friends about town.

THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

THE editor of an exchange says that ten years ago he could buy eggs at one third the price at which they now sell, butter at one half and other commodities in the same proportion. The price of his paper remains the same in spite of continual increases in the cost of living. It is true of the STAR as well. Renew your subscription now. AT $1.00 PER YEAR.

LIBERALS FROM ALL PARTS OF RIDING ASSEMBLE TO ORGANIZE AND HEAR PROMINENT SPEAKERS

ACTING PREMIER AND COLLEAGUE ADDRESS GATHERING ELECTORS

Hon. Charles Stewart and Hon. Wilfred Gariepy Here for Liberal Demonstration

In the presence of two cabinet ministers, one of whom, the Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of Public Works of Alberta, is Acting Premier, liberal delegates from all parts of the Wainwright riding and a demonstration of the strength of the liberal party locally were features on Monday that provided a noticeable extent that interest in political matters is not waning here. Hon. Wilfred Gariepy accompanied the Acting Premier here, this being their first visit since they have become ministers of the Crown. In the evening they addressed an assemblage of electors in the Elite theatre, following an organization meeting in the afternoon when an association for the riding was formed.

During the afternoon, the townspeople were delighted by music from the Irma silver band, and the hotels were crowded with people who had come to hear what prominent members of the provincial government had to say on political matters. Enthusiasm was evident and politics was a favorite subject of discussion on all sides. It was a demonstration that has not been equalled on many occasions during the past and it proved a day that liberals from different parts of the riding might well call their own.

At the convention in the afternoon, both cabinet ministers were in attendance and a large number of delegates from almost every poll in the riding. Officers were appointed and matters of interest to the party outlined. Honorary Presidents, Sir Wilfred Laurier and the Hon. Arthur Sifton, President, Dr. J. A. Little; First Vice-President, R. J. Tait; of Irma; Second Vice-President, S. G. Lewis, of Chauvin; Sec'y., G. H. Beaudry, of Irma; V. E. Graham. The presidents and secretaries of all local associations are members of the executive, together with the preceding officers.

THE PUBLIC MEETING

The public meeting in the evening was well attended, the theatre being packed. Dr. Little occupied the chair and seated on the platform were prominent liberals of the riding. The first speaker was the Hon. Chas. Stewart, who dealt with provincial politics entirely. Congratulating the town upon the progress it has made and the importance it has achieved, the member for Sedgewick thanked the citizens of the riding for their large attendance, which was evidence of the interest taken in public affairs and of the wisdom of such periodical visits by the ministers to the constituencies. The policy of liberalism was to get in touch with the people, to get inspiration and direction from the people, to rule for the masses and not for the classes.

The problem of serving the people with telephones, bridges and roads was dealt with and it was pointed out that scarcity of money and high rates of interest prevented certain work being carried out, yet it was the intention of the government to complete this year all the telephone work which had been petitioned or promised. Mr. Stewart pointed out that the government had the ambition to maintain the telephone system at a high degree of efficiency and showed the advantages of public ownership. He explained that it was impossible to construct everywhere at once on account of the price of labor and the cost of money. This held true of the system of road making as well for it would require more money than we could dream of to meet the demands in sparsely settled parts of the province. Rural municipalities and local improvement districts might very properly be requested to do their share in work of secondary importance.

MINISTER OF CROWN

The Hon. Mr. Stewart considered the debt of the province light in view of ten millions being invested in telephones and six millions in public buildings. Although it was unfortunate, it was necessary to spend $150,000 this year for a new jail at Fort Saskatchewan and $160,000 for an annex to the Pohoaka Asylum. These expenditures although enormous were necessary, and it was almost impossible to supply the funds demanded for the administration of justice, the development of agriculture and the distribution of common education.

OUR NATURAL RESOURCES

"Sooner or later we will secure our natural resources," said he. "Both parties in Dominion politics are committed to that course. The conservatives may put off the execution of their promise, but public opinion must force Mr. Borden to redeem his word of honor, solemnly given to the people of these western provinces. When we have our natural resources our wealth will be increased considerably and what is now a paltry federal grant, now insufficient in view of the rapid changes since 1905, will become a revenue worthy of a great and growing province, compatible with the needs and demands of our increasing population. We shall then be better able to cope with the difficulties confronting us and to grant relief sought at our hands by the farmers of Alberta."

The Minister of Public Works concluded his speech amid great applause, after which a selection from the Irma band was rendered. Hon. Wilfred Gariepy, who is Acting Attorney General during the absence of Hon. C. W. Cross, was then introduced. The Acting Attorney General

SCHOOL HAS VERY HIGH PERCENTAGE OF ATTENDANCE

99.44 was Percentage for Attendance During March.

The monthly meeting of the school board was held in the board room at the school on Friday evening, all the trustees being present and it was decided to furnish the room across the hall from the board for the lady teachers.

The report of attendance for the month showed an average of 125. The percentage for the school being 99.44 per cent, which is remarkably high. Miss Parson's room won the shield for March, the attendance being 99.67, almost perfect. Miss Bremner's room which held the shield for the two previous months came second with 97.2 per cent. It is hoped that a Trust Officer will soon be appointed.

On Good Friday and Easter Monday, the school will be closed as none of the teachers intend attending the Teacher's Convention which is to be held at Lethbridge this year.

Mr. Stewart's address was a pleasing one and politics was not the only topic of discussion. He paid glowing compliments to the Wainwright ladies who were in the audience and made humorous remarks in this respect. He congratulated the town on its progress and said the town looked good to him. He felt proud to speak before a gathering of people from all over the riding and welcomed those from Irma, Edgerton and Chauvin.

He stated that even though his conservative friends had done great things, these did not all the history of this country. The liberals had done much as well. He referred to the Americans and urged them to exercise their voice in political affairs. He reviewed federal politics from 1867 down to the present time. From 1878 to 1896, when the conservatives were in power stagnation had existed and especially in western Canada. Settlers were discouraged and left the country in great numbers. No consideration was given from Ottawa during that period. From 1896 until 1911, the west was developed under liberal rule. It had been a fight in favor of the people. The G.T.P. was due to Sir Wilfred Laurier and his colleagues and not to the C.P.R. or conservative party. The report of the railway commission to investigate the construction of the G.T.P. was briefly referred to, stating that there was no excuse for doing so.

Dealing with reciprocity, he stated that there was no need of raising hogs, cattle and grain unless the farmers had a market. The good object of reciprocity could not be questioned. The loyalty cry had defeated it and it was worthy of mention that since President Wilson has lowered the tariff, Canadian farmers were able to sell their hogs and cattle at much higher prices. R. B. Bennett had said that it was he convinced that Canada would get more for its grain from United States he would be in favor of removing the tariff. No throne, flag or king should depend on our existence. Canada could still be loyal and

COUNCIL PROMISES PROMPT ACTION ON HOSPITAL MATTER

By-Laws for New Sidewalks May Soon be Introduced for Ratification.

PUBLIC MEETING TO BE CALLED.

Council Endorses Idea of Boulevarding and Planting of Trees.

As a result of a deputation from the Hospital Union that waited on the council last night Mayor Lally will call a public meeting in the near future to decide on the best course to follow in the erection of a hospital here, and whether or not the institution will be built and operated by the town or the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Following petitions for sidewalks from a number of rate payers it was decided to leave this question of sidewalks until a later date to give time for Public Works Committee and other committees to bring in complete estimates for the year's work, when by-laws will be submitted to the people.

The Public Works Committee reported that $250 would be a fair estimate of the money required to complete the rink tank and that no tenders for its completion had been received. Nothing further was decided. A letter from the Deputy Minister of municipalities on the Town Act in respect to the gas by law was read and the matter laid over. The Auditor's report was accepted.

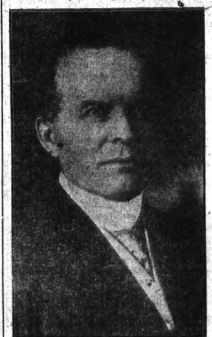

Come, Snyder brought up the matter of planting trees on the streets and it was agreed that the idea was a good one and in instructions were given Secretary Kenny to ascertain prices, etc.

COMING HERE TO HOLD MEETINGS

Rev. J. P. Westman, Travelling Secretary for Epworth Leagues and Sunday Schools for the Methodist church of Alberta and British Columbia, will hold a week of meetings in Grace Methodist church beginning Sunday, April 12th. His subject at 11 a.m. will be—"The Resurrected Church" and in the evening, "The Awakened Power."

Before becoming connected with the work in which he is now engaged, Rev. Mr. Westman occupied the pulpits of some of the largest churches in British Columbia, and is recognized as one of the leading preachers of Methodism. Some of his week night lectures will be illustrated by lantern slides.

SECRETARY EPWORTH LEAGUES

REV. J. P. WESTMAN Travelling Secretary Epworth Leagues and Sunday Schools for Methodist Church, who will be here from April 12 to 19.

ADDRESSED BOARD TRADE

GEORGE M. HALE, Edmonton's Publicity Commissioner, who addressed board of trade on publicity matters.

CREDIT DUE IRMA BAND

Seventeen Piece Band Rendered Excellent Music Here Monday.

An example of what a small town can do in the way of organizing a band was given here on Monday by the Irma band boys, who came down for the liberal demonstration. The band is composed of seventeen pieces and was organized from green players, in the majority of cases, since the first of the year. The music they rendered about town and in the open house reflected individual credit as well as a testimony to the ability of Leader, Olf. Larsen.

HIS FAREWELL SERMON

Pastor of Presbyterian Church to Preach Farewell Message Sunday.

Rev. A. Russell will preach his farewell sermon in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening next and will leave a week from today for Hanley, Sask., where he has accepted a call. It is not yet known who Mr. Russell's successor will be as Wainwright is a mission station, and has little to say in the choice of his pastor.

S. E. James, manager of the Merchants Bank, who is in Edmonton doing special work for that institution, was a visitor in town over Sunday. He will be absent for another week and during his absence the local branch is in charge of C. G. Siddall and R. S. Hinton, of Edgerton branch, the latter being here every second day.

Old fashion costumes and dresses will be a feature of the entertainment on Easter Monday. If you don't know what hoop skirts and bird cages are, come and see for yourselves.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Dunn, formerly of this town but now of Biggar, were visitors here with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burton over Sunday, returning to Biggar yesterday.

The report of the election of officers for the Wainwright branch of the Temperance & Moral Reform League was in error last week and should have stated that these officers were elected for the electoral riding of Wainwright.

A cut of the "Stephen's Gyms" in the advertisement of W. E. Washburn this week has been loaned Mr. Washburn by the Stephens' Paint Co. and is the only one sent out to their representatives.

BOARD OF TRADE GET HINTS FROM PUBLICITY MAN

Publicity Commissioner of Edmonton Addresses Board of Trade Officers.

GAVE MANY IMPORTANT POINTS.

Growth of Surrounding Districts Means Growth for Edmonton Commissioner Says.

Publicity Commissioner for the city of Edmonton, George M. Hall, addressed the officers of the board of trade on Thursday evening along the lines of publicity towns of Alberta must follow up in order to divert the stream of immigration to this province in general and to Wainwright in particular. His address was interesting and instructive and the many suggestions he offered will prove valuable to the local board of trade.

Mr. Hall explained that the growth of Wainwright and other districts in Edmonton's vicinity meant progress and development for the city for which he was working. He was in a position to advise settlers as to the best districts in the province and after seeing Wainwright's he was confident that he could recommend it to all calling on him for information. He believed that Wainwright had a mixed farming district second to none in the province. He was surprised to find it one that was well adapted to agricultural pursuits, whereas he had always been of the opinion that Wainwright was in a dry belt where the land was light.

An important point brought out by Mr. Hall was the manner in which western towns should preserve so far as possible the population of Canada. He did not favor turning the east for settlers, and discouraged any publicity in the eastern provinces with the object in view of robbing them of their best citizens. The west would be selfish to wish to drain the east of its people and Canada as a whole would not advance by a mere change in the location of her people.

Three important advertising schemes were outlined by Mr. Hall, these being newspaper advertising, literature and pamphlets, free articles in news papers of wide circulation and personal interviews. He especially emphasized the importance of personal interviews from which Edmonton had secured excellent results. In his capacity as Publicity Commissioner of Edmonton, he had secured very good results from advertising in a chain of 150 American newspapers, from which he received thousands of enquiries, followed by the actual settlers.

Mr. Hall explained that small towns do not require any great amount of money with which to carry on an effective campaign. He recommended advertising on a small scale in leading American and Old Country newspapers. Instances of how he had spent small amounts of money to good advantage were referred to by Mr. Hall and he explained that the greatest care should be exercised in attending to even the smallest matters that might not appear important.

Many valuable hints and suggestions were thrown out by Mr. Hall in his address and the board of trade will profit by his visit to no small extent. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hall before the meeting closed.

W. E. Washburn was a business visitor to Edmonton this week and while absent attended the Spring Horse Show with several other local people who are still there.

All telephone subscribers who have not yet received the new card and directory can procure one at the STAR office.

VINDICATED

Story of a Man Who Was Believed a Thief

By WILLIAM CHANDLER

Among those who went to California when gold was discovered there in 1849 was Joseph Griffin. He was a married man with one child, a girl of ten.

Griffin decided to make the land journey. He went from Buffalo to St. Joseph, Mo., traveling most of the way by stage, and there encountered one of the "pirate schooners" of that day, a vessel with a canvas top, drawn by horses, which he filled with provisions, seeking, of course, to make a profit on the journey. When all was ready and

Mr. Griffin told her they must part. He was about to start a ravished country boy stepped up to him and said:

"Say, mister, won't you take me along?"

"What's your name?" asked Griffin of the boy.

"Zeb," "Zeb what?"

"My father and mother were killed by Indians on the plains. I was picked up by buffalo hunters."

"Have you any home?"

"No, no home," said the boy.

"Well, come along with me. Those clothes would last you half-way. You'll need an overcoat when we get to the mountains, and I must have an overcoat. Reckon we have better be on our way."

Mr. Griffin called her husband said and expressed a desire as to the propriety of taking with them a wait who was entirely unknown to them, but Griffin said he would need some day.

Zeb proved a valuable acquisition. He soon learned to harness and harness the horses and was very useful in unloading and loading the wagons when the party camped under the stars. When Griffin was obliged to make repairs to the family, Zeb was handy as an assistant. It was the first time in his life that he had been a member of a family, and he seemed delighted with the association. The duties and the experience of traveling all day and camping at night with the others.

Recital of the adventures of the party would fill a volume. There is only room here to say that after many mishaps and dangers they reached the mountains and after many more mishaps and dangers passed over them and finally struck the region of the gold diggings. By this time Zeb had become a fixture in the family. It would have been cruel to send him away; one of them wished to part with him.

Griffin had brought some money with him, which he invested in mines that had been partially developed. But for a long while none of these investments turned out to be very profitable. Meanwhile Zeb grew to be a young man and gave indications of having sprung from parents above the average in the social scale. He had outgrown doing chores for the Griffin family, but had not outgrown his interest in them. Mr. and Mrs. Griffin were the only parents he had ever known, and, as for Zeb, he would at any time have given his head to gain try a whiff of her. But as he grew older he took his pick and shovel and started forth to try his luck as a prospector.

When Griffin had been in California six years he struck a bonanza. He bought a partly developed mine for a song and sold it for a fortune. The amount he received for it was 120 pounds of gold.

It must be remembered that California was still an inaccessible country. To reach the Atlantic coast by land the same perilous journey the Griffin had taken to reach the Pacific must be taken again. To go by sea meant something, though less dangerous, and it was not more tiresome. They decided to return to their home in New York state and carry their fortune with them, the decided either of two routes. After much deliberation it was decided that they would go south by way to Panama and thence to Europe by the isthmus route.

FLINT STONES WERE SCARCE

Our War Office Had to Advise for Them in 1778

"The war office calls upon all persons who know where flint stones can be secured to notify congress."

"Was there aught of prosperity in this brief appeal printed four days after the signing of the Declaration of Independence?"

A copy of the Pennsylvania Packet contains the advertisement. The newspaper bears date of July 17, 1778, and in the same column explains that the flint stones are to be used for rifles. And without the old flintstone there would have been no American independence.

At least not for many more years after the Boston tea party. If indeed, the original intended use of flintstones was to be used for rifles. And without the old flintstone there would have been no American independence.

Further perusal of the old newspaper shows that flint stones and sugar were offered for sale by the household. A reward of $5 was offered for the return of a horse that had strayed away from the house. It was also offered for the return of a horse that had strayed away from the house.

Sherrill's sales occupy a column and a half and the Packet's publisher takes pains to announce advertisements. He then takes up another hand and drops it into the water. Whenever he met anybody he gravely asked: "Have you seen anything of my horse?"

One day he met a woman and she told him "No" he would proceed on his way.

ABOUT THE HOUSE.

MAULED BY A LION.

An Unpleasant Attack and a Perilous and Exciting Mischance.

Captain C. B. Sigand was once mauled by a lion, and he recounts the adventure in his "Hunting the Elephant in Africa."

The captain had been hunting a lion, and while watching the body from a tree he saw two lions approach. He stood over the lions and roared alternately for half an hour.

He succeeded in shooting them both, but on approaching the body of his second victim he found that it was not quite so dead as it had seemed. "I approached the edge, and immediately the inert man assumed life, and with a roar, sprang on me with one lunge."

The order, who was a few yards behind me, immediately retired precipitately. As the lion sprang I fired into his chest, and he landed on me, his right paw over my left shoulder, and he seized my left arm in his teeth.

My left arm was advanced in the firing position. The lion was the first thing I met. The weight of his springing knocked me down, and I next found myself lying on my back, my right arm being seized and my left arm being held underneath my body.

I scrambled around with my left arm still in the lion's mouth. I was lying on my back, and the lion was lying on top of me. I was lying on my back, and the lion was lying on top of me.

EXTREMES IN DAYLIGHT.

There is, in Reality, No One Longest or Shortest Day.

It is usual to regard Dec. 21 as being the shortest day in the year and June 21 as the longest. But this impression, like so many others that are ingrained in the popular mind, is not a strictly accurate one.

True it is, of course, that on Dec. 21 and June 21 respectively the sun reaches its most southerly and most northerly points in the zodiac and begins in the one case to ascend and in the other case to decline. But this is in theory only, because for two or three days preceding and following these dates there is no observable difference in the position of its hour of rising and setting.

This question of latitude, by the way, is extremely important when speaking of the shortest or longest day or days of the year.

In London and its neighborhood, for instance, the longest days are seven hours and forty-five minutes and the three or four "longest days" around June 21 are sixteen hours and twenty-six minutes. At Toronto in Canada, June 21 brings a day nearly twenty-two hours long and Christmas one less than three hours in length. In St. Petersburg the longest day is sixteen hours and the shortest five hours, while at Spitzbergen the longest day is three and a half months, the shortest being counted in seconds only—London answers.

The author adds that he was drenched with blood, and upon examination he found eight big holes in his arm and three claw marks on his back, a damage that partially disabled him for two years. He remarks wistfully that since that adventure he has bagged seven more lions.

The Old Time "Ye." It Was Simply an Abbreviation and Was Always Pronounced "The."

How does it happen that in copying old, reading ancient manuscripts we find the character "ye" so frequently used for "the" by the scribes?

The "ye" was the first thing I met. The weight of his springing knocked me down, and I next found myself lying on my back, my right arm being seized and my left arm being held underneath my body.

I scrambled around with my left arm still in the lion's mouth. I was lying on my back, and the lion was lying on top of me. I was lying on my back, and the lion was lying on top of me.

Crows as Track Cleaners and Gulls as Government Workers.

As unique a crew of track cleaners and police as could be found anywhere is enlisted in the service of the Southern Pacific railroad. The members are neither Americans nor foreigners. It is a crew of crows.

The big black birds built their nests near Hornbrook, Ore., on the northern division of the road. They have been found in the service of the Southern Pacific railroad. The members are neither Americans nor foreigners. It is a crew of crows.

When the trains arrive at Hornbrook the crows leave their roosting places and circle about the depot. As the limited pull out the birds follow them for six miles. ## ALL IN THE ACCENT

Words on Which Common Usage and Dictionaries Disagree.

LINCOLN AND LIEN AND LION.

An Amusing Verbal Duel in the Supreme Court in Which the Lion Lawyer's Wit Came Into Play—A Blind Man's Criticism of Irving.

There are many words so habitually mispronounced that the correct accent (i. e., the accent favored by the dictionary) would appear wrong if anybody used it in current conversation. This, of course, means that common usage has overridden the dictionary and established a new standard, which the dictionary of the future will have to respect. Just as those of today respect the pronunciation of "lion," that they rejected in the past. Such words are cocaine and piromania, which the dictionary of the present recognizes as triphthongs, thus: co-caine, pi-mo-nia.

Anyone familiar with French—a language that may be said to possess no second accent—just as those of today respect the pronunciation of "lion," that they rejected in the past. Such words are cocaine and piromania, which the dictionary of the present recognizes as triphthongs, thus: co-caine, pi-mo-nia.

And of course it would be a Frenchman who made a feat of matrimony, by pronouncing it ma-tri-mo-ni.

Mark Lemmon, records a story about Lord Chancellor Eldon and Sir Arthur Pigott. The first always pronounced the word "lion" in two syllables, as it is now spelled; the latter pronounced it in one syllable, lion, as it would be pronounced in ordinary conversation. On this difference Jekyll wrote an epigram:

Sir Arthur, Sir Arthur, why do you do it?
By saying the chancellor's lion is lean?
Do you think that his kitchen's so bad as his man?

That nothing within it will ever get fat.
Lord Eldon's pronunciation of this legal term was not unknown at one time in America. Witness an anecdote about Lincoln. He once appeared in the supreme court in a case involving a piece of property.

The presiding judge was noted alike for obtuseness and pedantry. Lincoln, referring to the lion, pronounced it with two syllables, thus: li-on.

"Li-on, Mr. Lincoln," he gently remonstrated.

"Very well," said Lincoln. "A little later he forgot himself and out came the pronunciation 'lean.'"

Once more he was corrected by the judge.

"As you please," retorted Lincoln, somewhat nettled.

"Not as I please," came from the bench. "That is the pronunciation favored by Webster and by Worcester. It is so obtain at

SETTLE THE DISTRICT FIRST
TOWN GROWTH A NATURAL COURSE.

THESE IS MUCH TRUTH IN THE ASSERTION that city development in western Canada is ten years ahead of the times, and that it will take this long a period for rural development to catch up with the pace. Town and city development on the prairie provinces has been rapid. Provision has been made for years to come. Money has been voted for improvements that were desired and not in every case, needed. The result is that the people of the more thickly populated centres are overburdened and in many instances weighed down with debt.

Those who have observed these conditions have long advocated the settling up of districts adjacent to towns and cities. Without people on agricultural land, towns and cities cannot expect to grow. Western Canada is not, and will not, become a country where manufacturing will be carried on extensively. The farmers of the west must be depended on, and towns and cities must depend on the agricultural land, with which they are surrounded.

More attention should be paid to securing settlers for a new country than to increasing the population of urban centres before development in other quarters warrants it. A farmer for every quarter section should be the slogan of every interested resident of Wainwright and district. A larger and better town will come with the natural course of events, once the land is settled and developed by farmers in whose hands it rests to till the soil and in turn to make their town a prosperous and thriving centre.

A LOYAL VIEW OF MUCH IMPORTANCE

IN HIS ADDRESS TO THE BOARD OF TRADE on Thursday evening last, Edmonton's Publicity Commissioner, Mr. George M. Hall, struck the keynote of the western publicity situation when he said that extensive advertising should not be encouraged in the east with the end in view of securing the best settlers from the eastern provinces.

This is a loyal view to which no small amount of importance should be attached. Mr. Hall does not believe that the west should rob the east in this selfish manner, and much credit is due all who look at the matter of securing settlers in the same light. No longer is it considered that the east is east and the west is west. Both go to make up a country of vast resources and no impediment should be placed in the way of growth and prosperity of either side of the Dominion. The east may have a distinct advantage in possessing the mined interests, the corporations and manufactures of the country yet there should be a feeling of union between the east and the west that will prevent disintegration in future.

The west can grow and will grow stronger on its own resources and it is unnecessary to drain the east of its best citizens. If easterners are inclined to come west, they have the privilege and are welcomed, but to make an object of securing them at any cost, thinking that by so doing Canada will become a bigger country, is ethically wrong and, as Mr. Hall says, should not be encouraged.

AN EDITOR'S REVIEW OF HIS CONSCIENTIOUS EFFORTS.

ON THE OCCASION OF its fourteenth anniversary, the Wetsaskiwin Times has the following clear-cut remarks in an article devoted to the paper's progress along lines that follow the city's growth.

"Since the invention of this 'People's Popular Paper' we have seen Wetsaskiwin develop from a mere hamlet to the present flourishing metropolis, and we take pleasure in believing that the Times has, by its persistent, humble efforts, done not a little to aid in the growth and prosperity which is now enjoyed by every citizen. In the past the Times has endeavoured to publish news that was reliable, and to judiciously boost the advantages of Wetsaskiwin and community. While there are several people throughout the district who frequently assume the attitude that they are far more capable of running the Times than those at present in charge, while not questioning either their confidence or ability, we can say without the shadow of a pretence at boasting that no one could have been more loyal to the town than the Times has aimed to be and during the years to come we trust that some of the prosperity which is destined to come to this city will come to this journal, which stands for the best interests of Wetsaskiwin, first, last and all the time."

These remarks from the Times editor ring true and serve as reminders to those who read his paper what a good newspaper can do towards boosting a town that has natural advantages and has reason to become a big centre as Wetsaskiwin undoubtedly has.

THROUGH SERVICE WILL MEAN A GREAT DEAL.

THE LAST SPIKE ON THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC has been driven and a bond of steel now binds Prince Rupert with the east. It is hoped that the passenger service through to the coast will be inaugurated sometime in August next, when a special ceremony will take place in commemoration of the event.

The opening of a through service will mean a great deal for towns along the line of the new railway, as a result of traffic over the system. Wainwright, a divisional point, should start in on a new era of progress. The completion of the road has been looked forward to for sometime by local people, if for no other reason than to verify and confirm their belief that Wainwright has not yet seen even the smallest fraction of the development that is expected to follow. More settlers will be brought into the country, and Wainwright should get its share.

GENERAL VILLA SAYS HE'LL HANG HUERTA.

Beyond being ruler of Mexico, Villa, the bandit general, states that it is his ambition to execute Huerta in the public square. He is here seen marching toward Torreon, the link between him and his ultimate goal, Mexico City.

A dance was recently held in the Battle View schoolhouse, north of the Battle river, when certain parties from town attended. The affair was given by William Bradshaw on the occasion of his marriage with Miss Patterson. A very enjoyable time was spent.

The masterpiece photo-play entitled, "The Third Degree," at the Elite theatre on Friday night pleased a large audience and was pronounced the best picture ever seen here. "The Lion and the Mouse" by the same author and company is expected soon.

TO THE TRADE

We wish to announce that we are an entirely independent yard and in no way connected with any other lumber yard in this district. We are out for business and intend getting our share if possible, we will figure lumber bills as fine as any competitive yard and we will use the buying public right.

Give us a trial and be convinced.

DEERE DISC HARROWS

STRONGEST HEAVIEST BEST

Durability

To do good work and be durable seems to us strong points on the disc harrow question. Good work demands a harrow that pulverizes the ground thoroughly, that cuts out dead furrows, that adapts itself to any uneven condition of the ground. To be durable a harrow must have a strong frame, steel beams, 7/8" gang bolts, heavy gauge discs, and a general construction throughout that leaves no room for question as to the strength of any part. All these points have been built into the Deere Model B.

It is made in all sizes from 4' to 10' cut, 10', 15' and 20' discs, has improved oscillating scrapers, extension oil tubes, with or without weight boxes, and all sizes are furnished with a stub tongue. If you are in the market for a disc harrow, be sure to see the Model B at our store.

BOTH POLITICAL PARTIES
AT GILT EDGE HOLD MEETINGS

Liberal and Conservative Associations Elect their Officers.

One of the most enthusiastic reorganization meetings in the history of liberal politics in Gilt Edge was held on the evening of March 31st, when the association elected officers for the ensuing year. The large schoolhouse was packed to the doors.

The liberal supporters of Gilt Edge subdivision both old and young turned out to a man, and throughout the proceedings greatest enthusiasm prevailed. Following are the office bearers for the year, Pres. Gavin Peacock; V-Pres. Frank Traynor; Sec-Treas. Edward Monahan. The above mentioned office bearers were also appointed delegates to attend at the Wainwright convention.

The annual meeting of the Conservative Association of Gilt Edge was held in the Orange Hall, on Thursday evening last and officers appointed for the year. Hon. Pres; Rt. Hon. R.L. Borden; Pres., P.A. Connew; Hon. V-Pres. E. Michener; V-Pres. Wm. Fox; Secy-Treas., J. Reid. A large executive covering the whole district was elected. A large attendance is reported and G.L. Hudson, M.P.P. was present and addressed the members.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, and the Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories and in a portion of the province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be sketched by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not operated, such returns shall be furnished at least once a year.

These will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

The title head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands, not sub-agent, on certain conditions. Dates—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 40 acres on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity. In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section along side his homestead. Price $9 per acre. Dates—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry including the time required to clear homestead land and 90 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector for patent. A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a pre-empted homestead in certain districts. Price $10 per acre. Dates—Six months residence in each of three years, including 40 acres and seven a house worth $500.

LIBERALS FROM ALL PARTS ASSEMBLE

trade with Uncle Sam. He himself was of French descent and would probably have fought under Montcalm against Wolfe, but he was a loyal subject and would fight for Canadian liberty even though he was a liberal. The A. & C. V. railway agreement was referred to and its history from the time the Alberta courts decided in favor of the province. He considered the Privy Council a sacred institution, but other authorities had said that the judges erred and handed down a wrong decision from the fact that they did not understand conditions in this country. He admitted the pluck of Premier Sifton in making a solution which was complete and satisfactory.

As a Minister of the Crown he was willing to do anything in his power for the people of the province. He spoke on the Municipalities Act and showed its advantages. It was a pleasure to give his time to assisting the farmers in carrying on their affairs and they had only to ask for assistance and it was his duty to obey. The occasion of his visit to Wainwright would be one he would never forget and from the enthusiastic audience he was sure that liberalism was gaining ground. An election here would mean that Wainwright would be redeemed into the liberal column. In closing, he said, "Whether you come from the Old Country, United States, Germany or are a Canadian, and if you have the courage of your convictions the policy of liberals is to blend races together under one great national flag."

On concluding his remarks, cries for a speech in French were heard from the audience. A short address was given in this language and on resuming his seat prolonged cheers were given. Dr. Little who occupied the chair thanked the audience for the attention that was given and the order that had prevailed and the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

THE INTERNATIONAL LAND PACKER

The INTERNATIONAL Land Packer is designed to preserve moisture by packing and pulverizing the upper subsoil, at the same time leaving the surface of the ground uneven to prevent the wind from blowing away fine particles of dirt. Every farmer knows that the ground must be securely packed around the seed if it is to retain a sufficient amount of moisture to aid in the proper growth.

The LAND PACKER is next to the disc harrow, the most important tillage implement that the farmer can own.
